To whom it may concern

Salt Partners are engineering consultants and contractors, active in the field of salt production and processing. We advise our clients on all aspects of salt business. We supply proprietary technology and build salt plants worldwide. Success of our activities depends on specialised knowledge and business sense.

In pursuance of our plans to establish an engineering working group in Prague, we devoted considerable time and resources recruiting and training a group of chemical engineers, keen to expand our activities around the world.

Astonishing differences in basic understanding how international industrial companies operate emerged in the course of our work. It became apparent that Salt Partners expansion goals in Prague are not achievable within reasonable time and budget.

In 2015, the Board of Directors of Salt Partners Ltd resolved to terminate the attempts to establish Salt Partners working group in Prague.
